⁴ Minoru branded products are associated with Promotion and Display Technology LTD (“PDT”), a defendant named by AdjustaCam in a related case; in that case, AdjustaCam asserts the ‘343 patent against various defendants and states in its complaint that “PDT’s infringing webcams comprise at least one or more of the Minoru webcams.” (See AdjustaCam v. Atlanta Network Technologies, Inc., et al., Civil Action 6:10-cv-644-LED, Docket No. 1 (E.D. Tex. Dec. 2, 2010) at ¶ 36 (Exh. B)).

⁵ Pixxo branded products are associated with defendant Auditek.
